During this weekend you are trained to become a workshop facilitator for the euro-political CUBE workshop in schools. As a facilitator in the CUBE Community you hold workshops in schools to hear out and discover together with the pupils their political interest. We provide you with the needed non-formal education skills and our workshop concept with the goal to carry the political ideas of these young people into the European institutions.

We at CUBE. Your Take on Europe (cubeyourtake.eu) have the goal to make European youth participation more just and inclusive. That's why we organise workshops all over Europe asking young people: How do you want to participate? The youngsters discuss their answers with local politicians in a Dialogue. The ideas, which are collected during the workshops are campaigned for at the EU and local institutions. On December 6 you have the chance to give a platform for young people in schools in Limburg to advocate for their right to participate in politics.

Your participation at the Training is free of charge as it is fully funded by Maastricht, Working on Europe, a joint programme by the Province of Limburg, the City of Maastricht and Maastricht University.

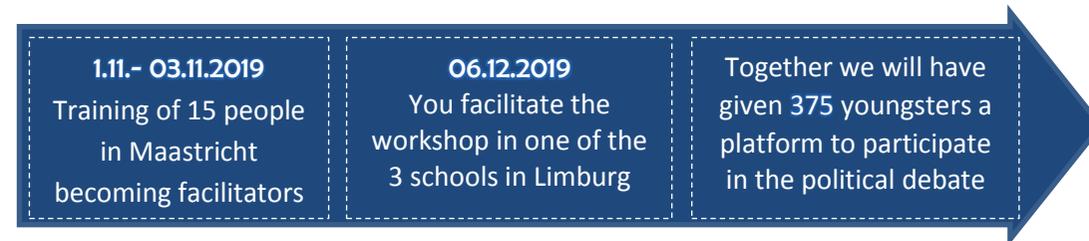

Accessibility: The accommodation for the weekend (hostel and conference rooms) have unfortunately not been confirmed so far. To help us make the seminar a good experience for everyone, please indicate your needs in this formula and we will do our best to accommodate them!

Your profile: You are interested in political debates in the European context? You are motivated to empower young people through workshops in Limburg to raise their voices in political matters?

And you are free on the 6th of December to facilitate a workshop in a school we organise in Limburg?

We especially welcome registrations by people/women* of color and black people/women*, LGBTQIA* individuals, people/women* with disabilities and working-class warriors
